Comments:

Water is the life blood of Northern California and must be preserved. As a walnut and almond grower, groundwater is a necessary part of my families life and the economic base of Butte County. It must be protected from export.

Because of the rapid population growth of the State of California, water will be in short supply and conservation is not a viable solution. Additional water storage is mandatory. For the Cal Fed program to be successful & realistic, protection of north state groundwater & additional water storage is required.
